Clarence Coleman on the Political Situation in Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 23.—The democracy of Louisville and Jefferson county send greetings to the faithful out in the State with assurances of a decided victory in the city as well as State on next Tuesday week. The writer, for one his age, has witnessed many big political demonstrations, but they all dwindle into insignificance when compared to the reception given to Hon. William Jennings Bryan by a united democracy in this city. My pen is too feeble, my vocabulary entirely too limited to describe or portray it on paper. The parade, which was 10 miles long, was the greatest thing ever pulled off in the South men on horseback, in carriages, automobiles, together with 40 Bryan and Kern and Sherley Clubs marching on foot, the burning of two car-loads of fire works, 30 brass bands and hundreds of floats, banners and other signs and placards was an imposing spectacle, and baffles description. The enthusiasm was unbounded and bespeaks the victory which is practically won.

For the first time since 1892 the democracy of Louisville is thoroughly united, enthusiastic and full of fight. All dissension and strife has been buried and forgotten and the re-united democracy of the Fifth district is fighting man to man, shoulder to shoulder for Bryan, Kern and the straight democratic ticket.

In 1896, Bryan did not have the support of a single Louisville newspaper. To-day the Courier Journal, Times, Anzeiger (German) and several smaller sheets are doing yeoman service for the cause of democracy. In '96 12,000 erst-while democrats of this city, led by Gen. Basil W. Duke, paraded the city in an anti-Bryan demonstration. To-day this same commander of Morgan's men could not muster a corporal's guard of so-called democrats. Such men as Henry Watterson, W. B. Halldeman Bennett H. Young, Boyd Winchester, John B. Castleman and hundreds of other big lights who went astray in that year are burning the most powder and firing the biggest guns in the battle now raging. Those who were for Bryan in his former campaigns are for him now and will stick to him thro' thick and thin.

Bryan delivered two speeches at Phoenix Hill, one in the auditorium to something like 10,000, another from the pavilion platform in the park to an audience that could scarcely be estimated. Fully 60,000 people were unable to gain admittance to either the park or auditorium and Baxter Avenue was a seething mass of humanity from its intersection with Broadway on the East to the railroad on the West, a distance of one mile. Other speakers who addressed the crowds were ex-Congressman Jas. Hamilton Lewis, of Chicago, Congressman Swager Sherley, Congressman Ben Johnson, of the Fourth district, Rev. Sam Smail, of Georgia, and others.

On the same night that Taft spoke to 6,000 people in the Coliseum, the democrats held a big rally in the Masonic Theatre, and the crowd taxed the mammoth building to its utmost capacity, many being unable to gain standing room. Speeches were made by Champ Clark, of Missouri, next speaker of the House, Joseph T. O'Neal, who left the party in 1905 to run for mayor, Herman D. Newcomb and Congressman Sherley. The reception tendered the former Kentuckian (Mr. Clark) in spite of the big republican guns in town, was pleasing to him. A week previous the opening gun of the democratic battle was fired at the Masonic when the veteran journalist, Hon. Henry Watterson, ex-Senator William Lindsay and Congressman Sherley spoke. This was Mr. Watterson's first and only speech of the campaign and it was a corker. Senator Lindsay received a great ovation and despite his 80-odd years was in the pink of condition and delivered one of the most telling and effective speeches for democracy that has been heard in Kentucky for years. The venerable statesman strayed away in 1896, suikid in 1900, but is now back in harness and appealing to the gold democrats to rally to Bryan's support in the fight for the people's rights as against the trusts and plutocratic government.

Congressman Russell, of Missouri, has delivered two speeches, one in the city and one in the county in support of the democratic ticket.

Bourke Cochran is yet to come, and suffice it to say, no hall in this city will accommodate the outpouring of people who will greet him.

Louisville not only has a united democracy, but that party has been materially strengthened by recruits from the G. O. P. Many republicans have announced their intention of supporting the democratic ticket this year. While Taft was speaking in the Coliseum on Fourth Avenue, several hundred Negroes were holding an anti-Taft meeting on Walnut street. They have two Negro Bryan Clubs here and are to have Bishop Watters, of New York, a prominent Negro, to address them. Fully 75 per cent. of the labor vote of this city, which includes most all of the railroad employees, will support Bryan. The ministers generally are for him, and altogether it looks mighty good for democracy in the Fifth district.

The democratic clubs of Louisville and Jefferson county number about 40 and others are being organized and meetings held in each ward of the city. The registration figures are satisfactory to the democrats, giving them about 5,200 majority out of a total of 61,598. There are some 9,000 independents and they will go to eight parties. Louisville, with a united party, is strongly democratic and has returned substantial majorities for the party since 1901 until last year, when it went mad for Gov. Willson by several thousand. If the local democracy continues to gather recruits and no dissension appears, I predict a majority in this city of from 3,000 to 5,000 for Bryan, Kern and Sherley. So mote it be.

IN NEIGHBORING COUNTIES.

The Spottwood saw mill at Pulaski station, in Pulaski county, burned.

Levi Ellis, of Butchertown, Casey county, has announced for the republican nomination for county judge.

W. R. Rowsey, of Boyle, who was paroled by the prison commissioners, has been arrested and taken back to the penitentiary. Rowsey, it is claimed, violated the terms of his parole.

Jess Nowling, of Tyrone, was drowned at High Bridge. A party of pleasure seekers attempted to land there and in some way Nowling lost his balance and fell into the water. He was drowned within 10 feet of the shore.

John Carter, better known as John the Baptist, was arrested by United States Marshal Masingale, of Somerset, on the charge of selling liquor without government license—Advocate.

Carter used to live at Rowland and was a fairly good citizen then.

Mrs. McCreary, wife of Senator Jas. B. McCreary, died at the family residence at Richmond Friday night. Mrs. McCreary had been in declining health for more than two years. Her condition about two weeks ago changed for the worse, and the end came when not unexpected. Mrs. McCreary was one of the most refined, intelligent and attractive women in Madison county. She was with her husband at Frankfort during his six years in the Legislature, and presided over the executive mansion when he was Governor. She also accompanied her husband to Washington and was with him during his long service in Congress. She was a woman of lovable character and had a host of friends at her home at Richmond, and also at Frankfort and Washington. Mrs. McCreary was a member of the Presbyterian church and was married to Senator McCreary in 1867. She was the daughter of Thos. Hughes, deceased, who was one of the largest landowners in Fayette county. Mrs. McCreary, leaves but one child, Robert Hughes McCreary, who lives in Chicago. The burial occurred in the Richmond cemetery at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The Fayette county grand jury made a report on the Willis E. Smith disappearance case. Consequently no indictments were returned against any of the alleged "hazers."

Stomach troubles would more quickly disappear if the idea of treating the cause, rather than the effect, would come into practice. A tiny, inside, hidden nerve, says Dr. Shoop, governs and gives strength to the stomach. A branch also goes to the heart, and one to the kidneys. When these "inside nerves" fail, then the organs must falter. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is directed specifically to these failing nerves. Mr. J. S. Murphy on His Trip Thro' Texas.

HENRIETTA, TEX., Oct. 23.—While on my Western journey my mind naturally wanders back to my kinfolks and my friends, and the editor being one of the latter, I thought I would drop a few lines to the I. J.

We are now at Henrietta, Clay county. The town has 2,500 or 3,000 inhabitants and was named for the wife of Henry Clay, while the county was named for the great statesman himself. We are domiciled with Mr. G. M. Nunneley and wife, from whom we received a cordial welcome. Their daughter, who is my cousin, married Mr. A. V. Winters, a prosperous business man who is engaged in the mercantile business here.

Wherever I go I run across the INTERIOR JOURNAL. Even Uncle Green, 1,200 miles away from Stanford, gets the I. J. My wife, John Jr., and myself are enjoying good health and have stood the trip well. We will leave here Tuesday for Oklahoma to see Dwight Root, one of my nephews, and family. From there we will go back to Dallas, Texas, where another cousin, Murphy Poppewell, and family, reside. The people of Texas are enjoying a good season in which to gather their cotton, of which they have an abundance. Cotton is bringing from 8c to 8½ cents per pound, which is rather low, but the yield is so great it will make up for the low price.

This is certainly a fine country and its inhabitants are prosperous. There are not enough republicans here to let a person know there is a republican party, and therefore there are no political speeches like I see you are having in Kentucky, but I tell them all that our State is going all right next month.

I have not yet seen anything in the way of a farm that I considered a bargain. Land runs in prices from $50 to $75 per acre. One man near Celina, (where Joe Murphy and his wife live) sold his farm of 375 acres at $75 per acre and left on the same train I did to go further West and invest in cheaper land. For about four years there has been too much rain here and it has effected the corn crop to such an extent that some are complaining a great deal, but notwithstanding that, you can see indications of wealth on every hand. The people like nice houses but don't seem to care for nice looking farms for they let the weeds grow at will.

From one who stands for morality and righteousness, J. S. MURPHY.

Served as coffee, the new coffee substitute known to grocers everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee, will trick even a coffee expert. Not a grain of real coffee in it either. Pure healthful toasted grains, malt, nuts, etc. have been so cleverly blended as to give a wonderfully satisfying coffee taste and flavor. And it is "made in a minute," too! No tedious 20 to 30 minutes boiling. Test it and see. Dr. Shoop created Health Coffee that the people might have a genuine coffee substitute, and one that would be thoroughly satisfying in every possible respect. Sold by Penny's Drug Store.

Eleven suspects have been arrested by soldiers on duty in the neighborhood of Reelfoot Lake, among them, Ed Powell, who said he was forced to go with the night riders when Capt. Rankin and Col. Taylor were taken from the Ward Hotel. Additional troops have been ordered to the scene by Gov. Patterson. A house-to-house investigation is being made to learn who cut the military telephone wire. One of the men under arrest is said to have expressed a willingness to confess and turn State's evidence.

An Owensboro dispatch says: A unique suit was filed in court here. H. B. Phillips has attached the entrance fee of L. P. Tanner, candidate for the democratic nomination for Senator in the Eighth district. Phillips alleges Tanner owes him $39 on a note made several years ago. The treasurer of the Democratic County Committee, with whom Tanner deposited his entrance fee of $250, is made a party to the suit.

A Healthy Family.

"Our whole family has enjoyed good health since we began using Dr. King's New Life Pills, three years ago," says L. A. Bartlett, of Rural Route 1, Guilford, Maine. They cleanse and tone the system in a gentle way that does you good. 25c at Penny's Drug Store.

HON. HENRY WATTERSON, the talented editor of the Courier Journal, who is supporting the democratic ticket this year for a rarity, says we are "not for Bryan but for Taft and should be and will be in the republican party." Mr. Watterson's saying does not make the statement true any more than his pet phrase "A democrat can not be a prohibitionist" settles the question. Pardon us for referring to our own political record but it has been challenged by the erudite editor. We have been voting for a quarter of a century and have never scratched a democratic ticket nor failed to support with our limited means and feeble efforts a democratic nominee. In fact we were working and voting for democracy in 1895, 1896, 1900 and 1904 when Mr. Watterson was supporting the republican tickets or trying to fool the people by advocating the election of such decoy ducks as the Palmer and Buckner tickets. His support of the democratic ticket last year was worse than opposition. It was only last Spring that Mr. Watterson fought a democratic nominee and he thinks the people have forgotten his recent break, but they have not. Democrats and the INTERIOR JOURNAL among them, were doing all in their power to elect Gov. Beckham, the nominee for U. S. Senator, while the mugwump Courier Journal and its "democrat-can't-be-a-prohibitionist" editor were using the most unfair, unjust and undignified methods imaginable to defeat him and did, with the aid of the beer and whisky trusts and some hell-hounds in the guise of democrats, put him out of business. We were working for the great democratic party and the matchless Bryan when Mr. Watterson made his attack on that christian gentleman's character, something not even the republican papers have ever stooped to do. And with such a record as this Marce Henri would weed out the democratic party and "drive out of its ranks" one who has fought the good fight and kept the house in order while he has bolted and bolted again. Do our readers think after this comparison of records that Mr. Watterson or this humble scribe will land under the log cabin? We pause for a reply. The gifted editor's definition of prohibition is made according to his own liking and not in accordance with Webster. To oppose the sale of whisky in State and Nation no more means "hypocrisy, bigotry, corruption, etc.," than the fact that he is supporting Mr. Bryan this time means that he is a democrat. Mr. Watterson knew, like the rest of us, that Kentucky would go for Bryan and wanted to be in the music wagon, so he just jumped in. However, a half loaf is better than no bread and we are glad to have him again with us if it is only for a short while. It is a pity indeed that the brilliant Watterson does not use argument instead of billingsgate in his discussions with his country cousins, all of whom love him, but detest his spotted political record and sorrow because of his affiliation with the corrupt heads of the booze trusts. Diverting just a little: Mr. Watterson changes his views on the whisky question with almost the suddenness that he does his politics. It was only last December that the following appeared in the columns of the Courier-Journal and whether he wrote it or not he has never repudiated it: "But as between no saloons and the town dominated by the saloon interests and influence, the Courier-Journal would not hesitate a moment in joining the Anti-Saloon League in its work of annihilation." No city was ever more under the influence of the saloon men than Louisville and had Mr. Watterson had an opportunity when he published the above, he might have committed the unpardonable sin of voting against the whisky interests.

Gov. PATTERSON, of Tennessee, wearied with the "night rider" outrages that have brought disgrace to the fair name of his State, has suggested that the governors of Kentucky, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas and Missouri meet him in a conference to devise means of putting an end to outlawry. Gov. Willson, of this State, was sent an invitation to join to the conference, and in accepting he suggested that the governors of Illinois, Indiana and Ohio be also asked to join the conference, and his suggestion will be acted upon. It is expected that the conference will be held immediately after the election.

THE office of county judge is one of the most important in the Commonwealth. The statutes do not require that he shall be learned in the law, but he should be, as he is called on to decide many points. He should also be a man of fine judgment and executive ability, broad and liberal minded, public spirited and progressive. Judge R. S. Owsley, Jr., fills the bill to a T. Vote for him and you will have reason to be proud of your day's work.

At a meeting in Carnegie Hall, New York, the other night Mayor McClellan presided and John Bigelow, 91 years old, intimate friend of Tilden; David R. Francis, of Missouri; Judson Harmon, Nathan Straus, Richard Olney and Hilary Herbert spoke for Democracy. This looks like Democrats are pulling together for a fact.

MANY are called but few are chosen. An official list issued by the Republican National Committee shows that there are 1,114 candidates for Congress in the entire country, including Porto Rico and Hawaii. The number of members of the House is 391, so that 733 disappointed candidates are assured.

Chairman Mack said the election would be a veritable landslide in spite of the fact that the republican party had accumulated a tremendous slush fund. He said he understood that the republican organization had accumulated $3,000,000, which would be used in several of the doubtful States. "But," he said, "they cannot defeat us with $50,000,000." Mr. Mack had a conference with Mr. Bryan on the candidate's private car in Jersey City, and said that while Mr. Bryan understood that the Republican National Committee had vast sums of money he expressed confident belief of his election.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular preservative—alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It bulks; it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help. If you would have strong hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

IN MEMORIAM.
God in His infinite wisdom has called sister Lizzie Wilson from her temporary abiding place to her home at the right hand of God in Heaven. Dear friends mourn not for Lizzie, for while her mortal body is mouldering to dust, her immortal spirit is resting in the realms of heavenly bliss. For she said on her dying couch she wanted to go home. Kind friends did all that could be done. We hoped and prayed for her recovery but God knew best and took her home. Many fond hopes, many loving hearts are bleeding, for none knew her but to love her. Those who knew her not will glance at this memoir, but those who knew her will read it with tear-dimmed eyes and it will be many years before she is forgotten. Farewell, dear Lizzie, sweet be thy sleep. A few days or years at most and we'll meet thee in that bright and happy home.
